PREFACE

This is the sixth issue of the annual publication of the POPULATION REPORT. The report is intended to provide a quick reference on some basic population indicators as well as the performance of vital statistics in the country.

The publication is a result of co-operative efforts between the Department of Civil Registration in the Ministry of Labour and Home Affairs and Central Statistics Office Department of Finance and Development Planning Ministry.

BACKGROUND

(i) Demographic Indicators, Population Distribution and Population Projections

The section covers a summary of the demographic indicators including fertility, mortality, population sex-age structure and spatial distribution of the population. It is important to know the performance of these demographic indicators, as they are the bases for assessment of the country's social and economic status. Most of Demographic information summarised in the report is extracted from other publications of the CSO especially the Analytical Report of the 1991 Census and the 1991 Population and Housing Census Population Projections.

(ii) Civil Registration

The registration of vital events dates back to the 19th Century in Botswana. Initially it was for only non-Africans and it was optional. However, this was amended in 1968 to include all races. Despite this, people normally register vital events especially births long after their occurrence.

The department of Civil Registration register, keep records of all births, deaths and marriages occurring in Botswana. The department also issue certificates for these events. Therefore, the Department of Civil Registration is the only source of vital events statistics in Botswana.

The Central Statistics Office through Demography Unit extracts vital events from vital events registers kept by the Department of Civil Registration. This has been done since 1986.

As a result of low registration of births and deaths experienced throughout the country, in 1980, the Department of Civil Registration send its staff to compulsory registration areas. The civil registration staff visits all health institutions and register all vital events as they occur. The District Commissioners register births and deaths in non-compulsory registration areas.

The Department of Civil Registration embarked on a pilot project in 1992 to register vital events were immediately when they occur. The certificates were issued at the district of occurrence. This project covered Francistown, Serowe, Kanye and Gumare. The project covered births and deaths only because of their poor registration. The data from the project was then provided to CSO in a computer Diskette.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

1. SELECTED DEMOGRAPHIC INDICATORS

1.1 Population and Vital Statistics

Table 1.1 shows that between 1997 and 1998, the number of citizens abroad increased from 43,278 to 44,785. During the same period, the number of non-citizens in Botswana increased from 34,115 to 34,940. The number of non-citizens increased from 15,667 foreigners in 1981 to 365,480 in 1998. Further, the number of households increased from 352,006 households in 1997 to 365,480 households in 1998.

1.2 Fertility

Based on Table1, It is evident that, although the number of live births increased from 45,056 births in 1981 to 53,245 births in 1998, crude birth rate declined from 47.8 per 1000 population in 1981 to 32.3 per 1000 population in 1997 and 32.2 per 1,000 population in 1998. The average number of children ever born to a woman during her reproductive period (Total fertility rate or T.F.R) was 6.6 live births per woman in 1981. It reduced to about 4.0 live births per woman in 1997 and 1998 respectively.

1.3 Mortality

There was also a notable decline in all mortality indicators during the period 1981 to 1998. Crude death rate decreased from 13.0 deaths per 1,000 population in 1981 to 10.8 deaths per 1,000 population and 10.7 per population in 1997 and 1998 respectively. Also, infant mortality rate declined from 71 deaths per 1,000 live births in 1981 to 40.7 deaths per 1,000 live births and 39.4 deaths per 1,000 live births in 1997 and 1998. Child mortality rate also dropped from 35.0 deaths per 1,000 population in 1981 to 9.1 deaths per 1,000 population 1997 and 8.3 deaths per 1,000 population in 1998. Life expectancy at birth increased from 56.2 years in 1981 to 67 years and 67.3 years in 1997 and 1998 respectively.

1.4 Population Density

Cities and towns were the most densely populated districts in Botswana. Gaborone city was the most densely populated with 1,085 people per square km in 1997 and 1,141 persons per square km in 1998. (Table 1.2) The districts of Kgalagadi, Ghanzi, Chobe and North West were the least populated regions as shown by Table 1.2, with an average of one person per Sq Km.

1.5 Age groups

Tables 1.3(a) and 1.3(b) show that Central district had the highest number of estimated population in all age groups for the years 1997 and 1998. The population was 456,586 people in 1997 and 464,030 people in 1998.This was followed by Kweneng district with an estimated population of 189,672 people and 193,466 people in 1997 and 1998 respectively. The least number of people in the special age groups was in the mining town of Sowa with a population of 3,154 people in 1997 and 3,324 people in 1998.

1.6 Population by Village/Town

Since 1981, Gaborone city has always had the largest number of people. Table 1.4 shows that from 1997 to 1998, the total number of people in Gaborone City increased from 183,487 people to 192,845 people. The town with the least number of people was Sowa. It had less than 4,000 people in both 1997 and 1998.

Among the urban villages, Molepolole had the highest number of people with a total population of 43,350 people in 1997 and 44,564 people in 1998. (Table 1.4)

2. VITAL EVENTS

2.1 . BIRTHS

The registration of births is done at district level in Botswana. Births are registered immediately when they occur (within a year) or after a year (late registration). After registration, completed registration forms are then sent to the department of Civil Registration in the Ministry of Labour and Home Affairs. The particulars of the child and those of the mother are then transcribed onto a general register. The forms are then filed by the district of registration.

2.1.1. Occurrences

Tables 2.1(a) and 2.1(b) show that in 1997 and 1998, the highest proportion of births occurred in Central District. The proportions were 27.1 percent in 1997 and 25.8 percent in 1998. In 1997, the districts of Barolong, Central Tutume and Ghanzi recorded lowest proportions of births. In 1997, the proportions were 0.0 percent, 0.4 percent and 0.0 percent for Barolong, Central Tutume and Ghanzi district respectively. For 1998 the proportions were 0.4 percent, 0.7 percent and 1.1 percent for Barolong, Central Tutume and Ghanzi district respectively.

a) Month of Occurrence

Based on to Tables 2.2(a) and 2.2(b), births occur through out the year. But the proportion of births occurring in a year tends to peak during the second half of the year. For an example in 1997, the highest proportion (19.3 percent) of births occurred in December while in 1998 the highest proportion (14.6 percent) of births occurred in December again.

b) Age of mother

The data in Tables 2.3(a) and 2.3(b) show that most of the births that occurred in 1997 and in 1998 was to mothers in age group 20-24. The proportions were 31.5 percent in 1997 and 30.9 percent in 1998. The lowest proportion of births occurred to mothers in age group 50 years and above. In 1997 and 1998, the proportions of births occurring to mothers in the age group 50 years and above were 0.1 percent respectively.

2.1.2. Registrations

a) District of registration

For both years 1997 and 1998, Central district registered the highest (24 percent and 25.8 percent for 1997and 1998 respectively) number of births, see Tables 2.4(a) and 2.4(b). In 1997, there were no births registered in the districts of Barolong and Ghanzi. In 1998, Barolong district registered 0.4 percent while Ghanzi registered 1.1 percent of births (Tables 2.4(a) and 2.4(b)).

b) Month of registrationIt is shown by Tables 2.5(a) and 2.5(b) that registration of births is done through out the year. The number of births registered through out the year does not differ much by month for both years 1997 and 1998. The number of registered births was low during some months. In 1997, the highest proportion (9.5 percent) of registered births was recorded during the month of December. In 1998, the highest proportion (15.9 percent) was again recorded in December. The lowest proportion of births (6.9 percent) in 1997 was registered during the month of April while in 1998 the lowest proportion (4.9 percent) of births was registered in January.

c) Age and marital status

The data on tables 2.6(a) and 2.6(b) show that in 1997 and 1998, the highest (30.5 percent in 1997 and 31 percent in 1998) proportion of registered births was recorded among the age group 20-24 just as it was the case with births occurring. Also, the least proportion of births registered was among the age groups less than 15 and age group 50 and above (less than 1 percent for both years).

2.1.3. Observations

It is evident that in both 1997 and 1998, there were more births registered than births occurring. This means that although the registration of vital events is compulsory in Botswana, people still register births late. A requirement of birth certificate for a service often compels this. For instance, registration of births is sometimes done only when a birth certificate is a requirement for school enrolment (see Chart 1 and Chart 2).

CHART 2 BIRTHS OCCURING AND BIRTHS REGISTERED IN 1998

2.2. DEATHS

Registration of deaths is usually done by completing " Notice of death by a medical practitioner" called "ordinary doctor Form B5" for deaths occurring in institutions and Form B4 for deaths occurring outside institutions.

2.2.1. Occurrences

a) District of occurrence

In 1997, the highest proportion (22.8 percent) of deaths occurred in Gaborone district as shown by Table 2.7(a). The highest proportion (26.8 percent) of deaths in 1998 occurred in Central district (Table 2.7(b)). For both years, the mining town of Sowa recorded the least proportion of deaths.

b) Month of occurrence

According to Tables 2.8(a) and 2.8(b), deaths occurred through out the year in 1997 and in 1998. In 1997, the highest proportion (10.6 percent) of deaths occurred in November while the lowest proportion (6.9 percent) occurred in May. In 1998 most of the deaths (11.2 percent) occurred in June and the least proportion (3.9 percent) of deaths occurred in December (Table 2.8 (b)).

c) Age at death

Figures from Tables 2.9(a) and 2.9(b) show that the highest proportion of deaths in 1997 and 1998 occurred among the age group 25-34. The proportions are 19.4 percent in 1997 and 20.8 percent in 1998. Further, in 1997, the lowest proportion (2.9 percent) of deaths occurred among the age group 1-4. In 1998, the least proportion (2.0 percent) of deaths occurred in the age group 5-14.

d) Exact place of occurrence

According to Tables 2.10(a) and 2.10(b) the majority of deaths in 1997 and 1998 occurred at the health facility. The proportion is over 70 percent for both years. For both years, it is only a very small proportion of less than 30 percent deaths that occurred at home.

e) Form type

Tables 2.11(a) and 2.11(b) show that most (more than 88 percent) of the deaths that occurred in 1997 and 1998 were recorded on form Doctor B5. During the same period, less than 1 percent of the deaths were recorded on either stillbirth form or late annexed.

f) Cause of death

It is shown by Table 2.12(a) that in 1997 the leading cause of death was infectious parasitic (18.3 percent) while 1998 most of deaths (19.2 percent) were due to undefined causes. Moreover, in 1997 and 1998, mental disorders, complications of pregnancy, childbirth and the Peurperium, diseases of the skin and subcutaneous tissues and diseases of the Muscular Skeletal System and Connective tissues together contributed an average of about 2.3 percent to the deaths that occurred.

2.2.2. Registrations

a) District of registration

Figures on Tables 2.13(a) and 2.13(b) show that in 1997 and in 1998 the highest proportions of registered deaths were recorded in Central District. The proportions were 22.7 percent in 1997 and 25.5 percent in 1998. The second highest proportions (22.4 percent and 20.6 percent for 1997 and 1998 respectively) of registered deaths were recorded in Gaborone District. The mining towns of Sowa and Jwaneng recorded the least number of deaths for both years with proportions of less than 1 percent.

b) Month of registration

In both 1997 and 1998, the distribution of deaths was even through out the year. However, in 1997, the highest proportion (10.9 percent) of registered deaths was recorded in December as shown by Table 2.14(a). In 1998 the highest proportion (10.4 percent) of registered deaths was recorded in June (Table 2.14(b)).

c) Age at death

Tables 2.15(a) and 2.15(b) show that in both 1997 and 1998, the highest proportions of registered deaths were recorded among the age groups 25-34. The proportions are 19.6 percent for 1997 and 20.5 percent for year 1998. According to the same tables, the second highest proportions (17.2 percent and 17 percent for 1997 and 1998 respectively) of registered deaths for both years were recorded among the age group 65 years and above. The least proportions (2.9 percent in 1997 and 2 percent in 1998) were recorded among the age group 5-14.

d) Exact place of death and form type

The data on Tables 2.16(a) and 2.16(b) shows that the highest proportions of deaths registered in both 1997 and 1998 were recorded at health facilities. The proportions are 71.1 percent for 1997 and 68.1 percent for 1998. Also, the deaths which were registered at the health facilities were recorded on the doctor form B5 as shown by tables 2.17(a) and 2.17(b).

e) Cause of death

In 1997, a most (18.2 percent) of registered deaths were due to infectious and parasitic causes as indicated by table 2.18(a). However, in 1998, most (21.6 percent) deaths were due to undefined causes (Table 2.18(b)).

2.2.3. Observations

The deaths data shows that there were more deaths being registered than deaths occurring. In 1997, there were 4,635 deaths registered and only 4,521 of these deaths occurred in 1997. Further, in 1998, there were 6,299 deaths occurring while there were 7,147 deaths registered (Also see Charts 3 and 4).

2.2. MARRIAGES

Registered marriages in Botswana normally take place on the basis of sanctioning by either the church or the court of law. In both cases, marriage may be arranged through Banns (i.e. the usual practice of proclaiming the names of the candidates for the period of twenty one days before formalising the marriage) or by a court licence that expedites the marriage process. The processed marriage forms are then sent to the Department of Civil Registration in the Ministry of Labour and Home Affairs for issuance of marriage certificate.

The analysis below covers occurrence and registration of marriages extracted from records in the Department of Civil Registration for the period January 1997 to December 1998.

a) District of registration

Tables 2.19(a) and 2.19(b) indicate that Central District, which had the largest number of people in the special age groups registered the highest (21.5 percent in 1997 and 21.1 percent in 1998) proportion of marriages. Gaborone District recorded the second highest proportion (20.3 percent in 1997 and 20 percent in 1998) of registered marriages.

b) Month of registration

Although marriages are registered throughout the year, there were more marriages registered in December than in any other month as shown by the data on Tables 2.19(a) and 2.19(b). In 1997, 21.5 percent of the marriages were registered in December while in 1998 the proportion was 22.2 percent.

c) Marriage type

The data from Tables 2.20(a) and 2.20(b) indicate that the most popular type of marriage was Court Banns. In both 1997 and 1998, this type of marriage constituted over 78 percent of all marriages registered. Further, during the same period, Church licence constituted less than 1 percent of all marriages registered.

d) Age of husband/wife at marriage

Marriages usually occur to males in the age group 30-34 as shown from Tables 2.21(a) and 2.21(b). In 1997, age group 30-34 contributed 30.9 percent of al male marriages while in 1998 the proportion was again 30.9 percent. The females on the other hand tend to marry when they are in the age group 25-29. The highest proportions of female marriages were 36.6 percent in 1997 and 35.2 percent in 1998 as indicated from Tables 2.22(a) and 2.22(b).

e) Occupation of husband/wife and marriage type

According to the data from Tables 2.23(a) and 2.23(b), males in all occupation categories do marry. In 1997, the category of professionals contributed the highest proportion (22.7 percent) of male marriages registered. However, in 1998, the highest proportion (22.1 percent) of male marriages was in the category of production workers. Regarding the females, it is those who are in the category of service workers who marry more. Tables 2.24(a) and 2.24(b) indicate that in 1997, 45.5 percent of registered female marriages were that of service workers while in 1998 the proportion was 45.9 percent.

f) Residence

The data on Tables 2.25(a), 2.25(b), 2.26(a) and 2.26(b) suggest that the majority of husbands and wives were living in Gaborone at marriage time. For husbands the proportions of those who were living in Gaborone were 23.9 percent in 1997 and 23.4 percent in 1998. The proportions of wives who were living in Gaborone at time of marriage were 20.0 percent and 22 percent for 1997 and 1998 respectively.
