PRE G PRIMARY EDUCATION 2013

STATS BRIEF

PREFACE

This publication gives highlights on pre-primary and primary education statistics derived from the data collected from schools through the 2013 annual school census.

The statistics provided will assist in monitoring the existing education policies, inform planning and decision making and serve as evidence on the country's progress towards meeting national and international obligations on basic education.

We sincerely thank all the school heads and regional education officers who provided the required data for the production of this brief.

1. Introduction

The statistics in this report is based on data collected through the 2013 pre-primary and primary annual school census. The annual school census is carried out in collaboration with Education Management Information Systems (EMIS) unit in the Ministry of Education and Skills Development (MoESD). The data was collected from government and privately owned schools.

It should be noted that this publication mainly covers data for 2013. However, some data for previous years have been used for comparative analysis.

The statistics provided is mainly on school ownership and number of schools, enrolments, drop outs, re-entrants, teachers and their qualification. Indicators reported include; Enrolment rates, pupil/teacher ratio, progression rates, among others.

2. Pre-Primary education

Provision of Early Childhood Care and Education (ECCE) programme to all children is essential as a foundation for primary education. Its benefits to a child among others include helping to boost cognitive and motor development as well as enhancing social skills. Pre-school education helps build a foundation of learning that is built upon throughout their school years. The pre-school also allows the child lots of interaction with peers which enhance their skills to share, negotiate and listening skills amongst others. Revised National Policy on Education emphasizes the need for provision of enabling environment for pre-primary education and increasing access to all children before enrolling in primary schools.

2.1. Number of Pre-Primary Schools and Pupils by School Ownership

Table 2.1: Number of Pre-Primary Schools

| School Ownership | No. of Schools | Percentage |
| :--- | ---: | ---: |
| Council | 12 | 2.1 |
| Private | 391 | 68.6 |
| Church | 52 | 9.1 |
| Community | 68 | 11.9 |

| Institutional | 1 | 0.2 |
| Other | 1 | 0.2 |
| Total | $\mathbf{5 7 0}$ | $\mathbf{1 0 0 . 0}$ |

The 2013 pre- primary data was collected from 570 pre-primary schools. Out of these $391(68.6 \%)$ schools are owned by private companies and individuals, 68 (11.9\%) schools belongs to the community, 52 (9.1\%) to churches, 45 (7.9\%) to NGOs, $1292.1 \%$ ) belonged to council while there was one institutional school.

Figure 2.1 further shows the proportion of pre-primary schools by school ownership. Private companies and individuals owned the highest proportion ( 68.6 percent) of pre-primary school, followed by 11.9 percent owned by the community, while the lowest proportion of 0.2 percent was owned by an institution.

The number of pre-primary schools fluctuates over the years as a result of closure of some schools. This contributes negatively on the reported statistics for pre-primary education hence trend data tend to be inconsistent at times.

Table 2.2 shows that majority ( 86.3 percent) of the pre-primary schools operated full day and there was no significant difference between the predominantly rural districts and the urban districts.

Table 2.3 shows that 50.9 percent of total enrolment in pre-primary education in 2013 was male while 49.1 percent were female. The Gender Parity Index (GPI) for participation in pre-primary education is 0.96 indicating almost equal access to pre-primary education by both boys and girls.

Figure 2.2 shows the proportion of pre-primary enrolment by school ownership. Private schools had 71.6 percent of total enrolment, community schools had 9.1 percent, 8.6 percent in schools owned by churches, 8.3 percent in NGO schools, 2.1 percent in schools owned by councils while institutional and other schools had 0.1 percent and 0.2 percent of the total enrolment respectively.

Table 2.4 shows that the highest number ( 24,688 pupils) of pre-primary attendants was aged between three and five years with the highest enrolment found among children aged 5 years with an enrolment of 9,363 pupils followed by those age 4 years with 8,870 pupils. It should be noted that there were 2,085 pre-primary pupils aged six and above, indicating their delay in starting primary school.

Pre-primary Attendance by Region

Majority of pre-primary school attendants were found in the South East with 7,415 followed by Central region with 7,238 . An interesting feature is that majority of those who were beyond six years were found in the Central region with 41 followed by the North East with 23 . In most of the regions, except South East and Kgatleng most pre-school attendants were age 5.

South East registered the highest number of pre-primary enrolment followed by Central and Kweneng with $7,415,7,352$ and 4,540 respectively.

Provision of Special Education in Pre-School

Special education is instruction specifically designed to meet the educational and developmental needs of children with disabilities, or those who are experiencing developmental delays. The early detection of children's special needs enables parents to contact the appropriate agency to have the child screened and evaluated to determine if there is an underlying problem or delay that might need to be addressed. Such screenings should cover a range of skill areas-vision and hearing, gross and fine motor skills, speech and language use, social and emotional behaviour, and more.

Table 2.6: Pre-Primary Enrolment with Special Education Needs by Region - 2013

| Region | Visual | Physical | Hearing | Speech | Mental Retardation | Multiple Disability | Intellectual | Other | Total |

| Total | 19 | 22 | 11 | 104 | 9 | 29 | 13 | 22 | 229 |

Table 2.6 shows that there were 229 children with special education needs enrolled in pre-primary school across the country in 2013. Out of these, 73 were in Central region, followed by 64 in South East region. The number of pupils with speech impairment was highest at 104 followed by those with multiple disabilities, physical and other impairment with 29 and 22 pupils respectively.

Figure 2.2 shows that 45.4 percent of pre-primary pupils with special education needs had speech impairment, 12.7 percent had multiple disability while students with physical disability and other impairments not specified constituted 9.6 percent each. Children with mental retardation constituted the lowest percentage of preprimary children with disability.

2.3. Age Specific Enrolment Ratio

Table 2.7 shows that Age Specific Enrolment Ratio (ASER) was highest for the 5 year olds at 19.4 percent, followed by the 4 year olds at 18.9 percent. ASER was less than one percent for pupils aged one year or younger and those aged 7 years. This shows that majority of pre-school pupils were aged between 4 and 5 years suggesting that parents prefer to enrol children a year or two before they are due for primary school enrolment.

2012 Population is drawn from CSO (2001). Population Projections for Botswana: 2001-2031 while the 2013 Population Estimates are proxies derived using the 2011 Housing and Population Census Data

Enrolment at pre-school continues to increase, perhaps suggesting that parents are increasingly acknowledging the value of pre-school. Table 2.8 shows that the national Gross Enrolment Rate (GER) for population 3-5 years in pre-primary schools was 19.8 percent in 2012 and 20.4 percent in 2013 . There was an increase of 0.6 percentage point in GER between 2012 and 2013. On the other hand, national Net Enrolment Rate (NER) for population $3-5$ years in pre-primary school was 16.6 percent in 2012 and 17.3 percent in 2013 , showing a 0.7 percentage point increase in NER (3-5) between the two years.

2.4. Pre- Primary Teachers Qualification

Despite the increasing value attached to pre-school education and its recognition by the revised National Education Policy, a significant proportion of teachers at pre-school level remain untrained, which is likely to compromise the quality of education at that level.

Research has linked early learning and development to the educational qualifications of teachers. The most effective preschool teachers - those with at least a four-year college degree and specialized training in early childhood - have more responsive interactions with children, provide richer language and cognitive experiences, and are less authoritarian. High-quality preschool education depends on effective, high-quality teachers (W. Steven Barnett NIEER Policy Brief (Issue 2, revised December 2004).

Table 2.9 shows that majority of the teachers are females. It further shows that there were 44 male and 2,453 female pre-primary teachers in 2013 compared to 33 male and 1,920 female in 2012 . Of all teachers in 2013, 1,375 were trained constituting 55.1 percent while 44.9 percent ( 1,122 teachers) were untrained.

Nationality and qualification of Preschool teachers

Table 2.10 shows than preschool teaching is dominated by females who constituted 98 percent of the teaching staff. An interesting feature is that majority of preschool teachers are Batswana. Out of a total 2,497 teachers, 2,079 or 83.2 percent were Batswana while the remainder were foreigners who were dominated by females.

Table 2.11 shows that a total of 2,079 teachers were citizens while 418 were non-citizens. Further, citizens constituted the bulk of the unqualified teachers. More than half or 52.5 percent of citizen teachers were unqualified compared to only 7 percent for foreign teachers. Most of the qualified teachers were certificate holders with a sizeable number holding a diploma.

Figure 2.4 indicates that about 45 percent of pre-primary teachers are untrained, 39 percent are certificate holders, and only 13 percent had diploma. The degree holders constituted 2.5 percent while master's degree and other unclassified qualifications constituted 0.4 and 0.1 percent respectively.

3. Primary education

This section gives a summary of the latest available education statistics in primary education based on the 2013 primary school annual census. The analysis among others includes number of schools by ownership, enrolment rates, school dropout rates and teacher qualifications and pupil/ teacher ratio to mention a few.

Table 3.1 shows that there we 821 registered primary schools country wide in 2013 of which 753 ( 91.7 percent) were government owned schools and 68 ( 8.3 percent) were privately owned. This is an indication that government is the main provider of primary education. There has been an increase of 0.9 percent on the number of schools from 814 schools in 2012 to 821 schools in 2013 . The number of government owned primary schools remained unchanged while privately owned schools increased by 7 schools (11.5\%).

Figure 3.1 shows that public schools constituted above 90 percent across all the regions except for South East where public schools constituted 68.6 percent. South East region had the highest number of private schools constituting 32.4 percent of all private primary schools in the country. Kgalagadi region is the only region with no private schools.

2013 Population Estimates are proxies derived using the 2011 Housing and Population Census Data
Age specific enrolment ratio (ASER) for children aged 7-9 years is almost 100 percent implying that almost all children aged 7-9 years are enrolled in primary schools irrespective the standard they are doing. The ASER decreases significantly with age after age 14 years.

3.3.1 Primary School Enrolment Rates 2003-2012

Table 3.8: Primary School GER and NER - 2003-2012

| Year | GER (6-12 Year) \% | NER (6-12 Years) \% | GER (7-13 Years) \% | NER (7-13 Years) \% |  |
| :--- | ---: | ---: | ---: | ---: | ---: |
| 2003 | 114.6 | 90.0 | 114.5 | 98.7 |  |
| 2004 | 113.8 | 89.5 | 114.1 | 98.5 |  |
| 2005 | 113.1 | 89.6 | 114.1 | 97.8 |  |
| 2006 | 112.2 | 89.2 | 113.6 | 96.8 |  |
| 2007 | 109.4 | 86.9 | 111.5 | 94.9 |  |
| 2008 | 107.7 | 85.4 | 109.8 | 92.9 |  |
| 2009 | 108.4 | 85.8 | 109.8 | 91.8 |  |
| 2010 | 109.5 | 87.1 | 108.8 | 90.8 |  |

| 2013 | 110.8 |  |  | 94.5 |  |

The enrolment rates for the population 6-12 years had slightly declined between 2012 and 2013. The gross enrolment rate (GER) declined from 111 percent in 2012 to 110.8 percent while the net enrolment rate (NER) declined from 93.1 percent and 92.9 percent. On the other hand the rates for population $7-13$ years increased between 2012 and 2013. GER increased from 98.7 percent to 111.9 percent while NER increased from 86 percent to 94.5 percent.

Table 3.9 shows the extent/rate at which the pupils abandon school at different regions before they could complete the full course of primary education. The total dropout rate was 0.9 percent in 2011, 1 percent in 2012 and reduced to 0.6 percent in 2013 . The table further shows that Gantsi had the highest dropout rates since 2011 being; 5 percent in 2011, 6.7 percent in 2012 and 3.5 percent in 2013 . North West and Kgalagadi regions each had dropout rates of 1.5 percent in 2011 and 1.6 percent in 2012. In 2011 South East region had the lowest dropout rate of 0.1 percent while in 2012 Chobe region had the lowest dropout rate of 0.2 percent and in 2013 North East region had the lowest dropout rate of 0.1 percent.

Standard 1 drop out constitute the highest number of drop outs for both male and female drop outs. Of the 1,957 total drop outs, 416 were standard 1 , constituting 21.3 percent followed by standard 2 with 318 drop outs, constituting 16.3 percent.

Therefore, 83.5 percent of the cohort who started standard 1 in 2007 reached standard 7 in 2013 showing an increase of 2.4 percentage points on the cohort who started standard 1 in 2006 and completed standard 7 in 2012.

3.7. Primary School Leaving Examination

In 2014, 42,797 candidates set for the Primary School Leaving Examinations (PSLE) with 49.8 percent of the candidates being girls. This is a reflection that Botswana is doing well on gender parity for participation in PSLE.

Data Source: Botswana Examination Council (2015)

Figure 3.2 reflex performance in primary leaving examination over the years. It can be observed that quality pass denoted by A-C in PSLE has been improving steadily since 2011 ,after the decline between 2010 and 2011, The percentage of PSLE candidates who obtained overall A-C declined from 69.4 percent in 2010 to 64 percent in 2011 and thereafter increased annually up to 69.1 percent in 2014.

Data Source: Botswana Examination Council (2015)
Further analysis of grades A to C separately shows that more (between $35 \%$ and $38 \%$ ) PSLE candidates obtained grade C between 2010 and 2014 than grades A and B. Percentage of candidates obtaining grade $B$ ranged between 15 and 19 percent, during this period while those obtaining grade A ranged between 12 and 15 percent (figure 3.3 refers).This is an indication that candidates with grade $C$ contribute more to the quality pass than those with grades A and B .

3.8. Transition Rate

Figure 3.4 shows that since 2000 to date transition rates from primary school (Standard 7) to lower secondary level (Form 1) had been above 96percent. This was an indication that although the education policy outlines that each eligible child should go through 10 year basic education there was still a small proportion (about 3 percent) of children who only go up to Standard 7 and never reach Form 1. Although the transition rate was very high, the desired 100 percent transition rate from primary to lower secondary has never been achieved over the years.

3.9. Primary School Teacher by Age and Qualification

 Exclude teachers on study leave
Figure 3.5 shows distribution of teachers by age and sex. Most female teachers $(1,944)$ were in the age group $45-49$ while the highest number of male teachers (730) was in the age group $30-34$, followed by age group $35-$ 39 with 688 male teachers. A few teachers, 362 teachers, constituting 2.7 percent of total teachers were below 25 years while 204 ( 1.5 &) teachers were aged 60 years and above.

Figure 3.6 show that in 2013; 65.5 percent of primary school teachers had Diploma as their highest teaching qualification, followed by those who had other teaching qualification not specified at 12.2 percent. Those with Bachelor of Education were 8.7 percent (B.Ed) while 8.2 percent had Primary Teaching Certificate (PTC). The percentage of teachers without teaching qualification, PTC and Certificate, Bachelor of Education in Special Education, and Bachelor of Education Management ranged from 1.0 to 1.5 percent each. Other qualifications; Primary Lower (PL), Primary Higher (PH), and Master in Education each had percentage less than 1 percent.

In 2013 there were 15,042 primary school teachers of which 14,817 teachers had a teaching qualification and 225 had no teaching qualification. North West region had the highest number of teachers (60) without teaching qualification. Chobe and Gantsi regions had no unqualified teachers while Kgatleng had reported only one unqualified teacher.

Figure 3.7 shows that the percentage of primary school teachers without any teaching qualification has been declining over the years. Figure 3.7 further shows that 7.5 percent of primary school teachers were untrained in 2004 and this declined to 0.5 percent in 2012 , however, in 2013 the proportion of primary school teachers without any teaching qualification increased to 1.5 percent.

3.10. Pupil- Teacher Ratio

The Pupil Teacher Ratio is one of the key indicators used as a proxy for assessing the quality of education. It is believed that a low number of pupils per teacher translates into pupils having better chance of contact with the teachers and hence a better teaching/learning environment. However, it should be noted that there are many other factors that affect the pupil's learning process; teacher qualification, adequate teaching and learning materials and small class size.

Table 3.15 shows that the percentage of untrained primary school teachers increased from 0.5 percent in 2012 to 1.5 percent in 2013. The pupil teacher ratio for the trained teachers decreased from 23.4 pupils per trained teacher in 2012 to around 23.0 pupils per trained teacher in 2013.

Access

Total Enrolment: Total number of learners in the system.
Age Specific Enrolment Ratio (ASER): Enrolment of the population of a specific age / Population of that specific age)*100.Age Specific Enrolment Ratio is percentage of the population of a specific age enrolled. It shows the extent of the population of a specific age cohort in educational activity.

Gross Enrolment Ratio (GER): Number of pupils enrolled in a given level of education, regardless of age, expressed as a percentage of the population in the theoretical age group for the same level of education; Total enrolment in primary / Population of that specific age group 6-12yrs) *100.

Net Enrolment Ratio (NER): Number of pupils in the theoretical age group for a given level of education enrolled in that level expressed as a percentage of the total population in that age group.; Enrolment of specific age group 6-12 years/ Population of that specific age group 6-12yrs) *100

Net Intake Rate (NIR): Number of new entrants in the first grade of primary education who are of the theoretical primary school entrance age, expressed as a percentage of the population of the same age.

Gross Intake Rate (GIR): Total number of new entrants in the first grade of primary education regardless of age, expressed as a percentage of the population of the theoretical entrance age to primary education.

Quality

Student Teacher Ratio: Average number of pupil per teacher at the level of education specified in a given school year, based on headcounts for both pupils and teachers; Total enrolment / Total number of teachers.

Student Classroom Ratio: Average number of pupil per classroom at the level of education specified in a given school year, based on headcounts for both pupils and classrooms; Total enrolment / Total number of classrooms.

Percentage of Trained Teachers: Number of teachers who have received the minimum organised teachertraining (pre-serviced or in service) required for teaching at the relevant level of education in the given country, expressed as a percentage of the total number of teachers at the given level of education.

Pass Rate: Percentage of candidates with Grade C or better as an overall percentage.

Efficiency

Transition Rate from Primary to secondary: Number of new entrants to the first grade of secondary education in a given year, expressed as a percentage of the number of pupils enrolled in the final grade of primary education in the previous year.

Dropout Rate: Is the proportion of pupils who leave the system without completing a given grade in a given year

Percentage of Repeaters: Number of pupils who are enrolled in the same grade (or level) as the previous year, expressed as a percentage of the total enrolment in the given grade or level of education.

Survival Rates: Survival rates are calculated on the basis of the reconstructed cohort method, which uses data on enrolment and repeaters for two consecutive years. It is to be interpreted as the percentage of children who start primary education who will reach a given grade.

Equity

Gender Parity Index (GPI): Ratio of the female to male values of a given indicator. A
GPI 1 indicates parity between sexes
